

The Parks and Beaches of Sterpaia and Etruscan Coast

IL PARCO DI RIMIGLIANO

Rimigliano Nature Reserve stretches along the coast between San Vincenzo and Piombino for about six kilometres and forms part of the Parks of Val di Cornia. The reserve is home to typical Mediterranean scrub containing an exceptional variety of species, shapes and colours and in many places touches the clear blue sea, which laps the long sandy beach. This coastal reserve is ideal for long and reinvigorating romantic walks.

slopes gently towards some of the clearest water found in these parts.

La Carbonifera belongs to Parco Della Sterpaia. Both private and public beaches are available. With its clear and fine sand and the shallow sea bottom, it is ideal for children too. Torre Mozza Beach, which is part of Parco Della Sterpaia, is overlooked by an ancient watchtower dating back to 1500.

IL GOLFO DI BARATTI

Baratti is certainly one of those beaches that makes you fall in love and that satisfies all its visitors. Characterized by a unique atmosphere, you can breathe an air of peace and tranquility. The gulf is in fact surrounded by a real oasis of nature: green hills, crossed by dirt paths that open onto wonderful panoramas and small hidden jewels, such as the Hexagon House and the Dinosaur House. If you get tired of the sea and the sun and are not fond of walking, fear not: just behind the beach there are pine trees where it is one of the greenest places in this area thanks to the dense Mediterranean vegetation emanating scents of rosemary, maritime pines and aromatic herbs. An enchanting spot to while away warm summer days in the shade of centuries-old oaks.

IL PARCO DELLA STERPAIA CARBONIFERA E TORRE MOZZA

Nestled in the wide Gulf between Follonica and Piombino you find an area of around 296 hectares composed of beaches, dunes and thick vegetation that all form the Sterpaia Coastal Park.

Make the most of your holiday in Tuscany by visiting the Park and enjoy its fine white sandy beach that you can look for some coolness and shade. Today in Baratti there is only a small, very picturesque tourist port, but once it was one of the nerve centers of the Etruscan civilization, not only for trade but also for the working of iron, coming from Elba. In fact, you will notice that even today the sand is characterized by a dark color, which shines under the sun's rays.

CALAMORESCA

Mixed beach of coarse sand and gravel placed in a small bay, it interrupts a long stretch of high and rocky coast dotted with Mediterranean scrub. Crowded especially by young people during the week. 3 km away from the city centre, reachable downhill from the car/motorcycle parking via a large cemented road which can only be traveled on foot (5 min.) or by bicycle. It has a small bathing establishment with bar and restaurant (Calamoresca beach, also open in winter).

CALA VIOLINA

Thanks to the fine sand, the crystal clear water and the unspoiled nature, Cala Violina is one of the most beautiful beaches of the Gulf of Follonica and of whole Maremma. Located between Follonica and Punta Ala, 10 km far from both towns, the beach is part of the Natural Reserve of Bandite Di Scarlino. Forbidden to vehicles, you can get here choosing amongs two paths: or from Punta Ala by bike, after entering the barrier of Portiglioni (near the port of Scarlino), through a beautiful but quite difficult path; either, more easily, leaving from Pian d'Alma and following the signs on the provincial road 158. This will lead you to a dirt road and after 1 km you will find a limited parking lot (since we are inside of a natural reserve). After parking, you will walk about 1.5 km on a path through the pine wood before getting to the beach. A luxuriant Mediterranean vegetation overlooks the clear beach with quartz granules. The place takes its name from the sound they emit stepping on them (to hear it, it is necessary a lot of silence, so we recommend you to try very early in the morning, late in the evening or off season). Since there are no beach facilities here, this place gives a really extraordinary experience thanks to the wonderful view and the very clear water but remember that during high season it will be very crowded .

CALA CIVETTA

Far 11 km from Follonica, the beach takes its name from the Torre delle Civette, which overlooks the small bay. Following the provincial road 158, after arriving in Pian d'Alma, follow the signs for Punta Ala until you reach the river Alma. Probably the wildest beach in the whole Gulf, it is not easy to find, there are no facilities or refreshing points. That is why we suggest you to bring the necessary for a pleasant stay.

SURROUNDINGS

Rich in history, natural and cultural beauties, tranquility and small villages, the Tuscan Maremma is the perfect place to unwind from the stresses of everyday life. Famous for the hundreds of medieval villages, real gems set in the natural Mediterranean landscape, with their small squares, stone houses, defensive towers surrounded by walls, churches and works of art of great value, the Tuscan territory it is all to visit for a holiday dedicated to the discovery of the most beautiful villages in Italy. .

San Vincenzo

A lovely costal town, ideal for a walk in the centre, at the seafront or at the harbor. There are many restaurants, bars and shops and during summer, several festivals are organized.

Follonica

It is one of the most famous summer destinations in the Grosseto Maremma and more generally of Tuscany. The progressive urban expansion towards the sea, which took place mainly during the last century, has made Follonica a city with a strong tourist vocation, although its foundation dates back to the 16th century (AD), when it established itself in the Tuscan territory as an important iron and steel pole. In fact, the historic center of Follonica coincides with the ancient perimeter wall (fence) which enclosed the ironworks.

The coast of Follonica is particularly appreciated for the sandy seabed which slopes slowly towards the open sea. A feature that allows anyone to be able to immerse themselves in water without running any risks.

Piombino

Main town in Val di Cornia and important iron and steel center, today Piombino still preserves evidence of its past: from the Etruscan origins to the Principality of Piombino, held by Elisa Baciocchi, Napoleon Bonaparte's sister. There are several monuments and tourist attractions, like the Town Hall, Piazza Bovio, one of the best squares in Italy, from which you can enjoy a stunning view of the Tuscan Archipelago, and the marina, at Marina di Salivoli.

Campiglia Marittima

This medieval village inhabited since the Etruscan era still preserves evidence of its past. The most noteworthy attractions are the Pieve of San Giovanni, the Rocca San Silvestro, built in the 11th century by della Gherardesca family to control the mining area, which had been exploited since the Etruscan era, and the Archaeological Mines Park of San Silvestro. In the Archaeological Mining Park it is also possible to visit the ancient mines. During summer, several events are organized .

Populonia

Located on the promontory of the Gulf of Baratti, Populonia played an important role during the Etruscan and Roman times and in Middle - Ages, due to the exploitation of the mineral resources of Elba and of Campiglia Marittima. Nowadays, you can admire the Etruscan necropolis and the remains of the old settlements in the Archaeological Park of Baratti and Populonia, the Fortress and the medieval village e.

Suvereto

The village of Suvereto is undoubtedly one of the most beautiful and characteristic of the Etruscan Coast, a member of the association "The Most Beautiful Villages of Italy", it was also awarded the Orange Flag for the excellence of its offer and hospitality.

In addition to its beauty, Suvereto is known for its typical products, in particular oil and wine, and it is no coincidence that it is also part of the "Città del vino" association. Nestled in a beautiful natural setting not far from one of the most beautiful and clear seas of the Tuscan coast and surrounded by fields of ancient olive trees and beautiful vineyards, Suvereto is definitely a destination to include in your Tour of the Tuscan Villages. During your walk in the village you have to spent a few minutes of your time to visit the characteristic former Convent of San Francesco; in a dominant position over the Borgo you can also admire the Rocca Aldobrandesca.

Massa Marittima

One of the most attracting medieval village of the area, Massa Marittima is rich in historical, architectural and environmental treasures. The main square encloses the most significant monuments: the stunning Saint Cerbonius Cathedral, the Town Hall, the Fonti dell'Abbondanza, with the Fertility Tree, a unique fresco, and the Palazzo del Podestà. Apart from the monuments, Massa Marittima offers tourists remarkable festivals, like Lirica in Piazza and Balestro del grifalco.

Castiglione della Pescaia

Characteristic village of seafaring about 23 km from Follonica, Castiglione della Pescaia is perched at about 540 meters above sea level. on a promontory at the top of which stands the Aragonese Castle, whose towers give, combined with the coastal landscape, a breathtaking view. The town is also one of the most exclusive tourist destinations in the area, thanks to the enormous number of beaches (from the best equipped to the wildest) and the countless green areas made up of pine forests and Mediterranean scrub. Castiglione della Pescaia, in addition to the luxurious port, is also known for its fervent evening and night life thanks to the numerous leisure offers offered by the locality.

Castagneto Carducci

Born as Castagneto Marittimo and became Castagneto Carducci in 1907 in honor of the famous poet who spent his childhood in these lands, the Borgo is absolutely one of the stops to include in our travelogue during your holidays in Tuscany.

Immersed in the Livornese Maremma, in the heart of the Etruscan Coast, unlike other Tuscan villages in the area, Castagneto is more like a town, certainly larger and with a decidedly greater number of inhabitants than for example the near Bolgheri, with which it is connected by the marvelous Bolgheri road that offers unique sceneries, slipping between vineyards and cultivated fields.

In Castagneto you will have the chance to walk through the streets of the village and see antique shops with typical products, restaurants, panoramic squares and wine bars where you can taste the symbolic product of this area: Bolgheri DOC wines

Wine Route and City of Art

Among other things, you can taste local wine and oil, by following the Etruscan Coast Wine and Olive Oil Road, which will take you to the most important vineyards of the area, including the birthplace of Sassicaia, one of the most prestigious wines in the world and a symbol of the Etruscan Coast.

The cities of art, famous all over the world, are also easily reachable: Florence, Pisa, Siena, Lucca, Volterra, San Gimignano
